Come support Ted De Jardin and his family. Ted was admitted to the hospital for a week with sepsis in December which ended up getting into his joints resulting in major surgery. He has since been admitted again and has gone through 3 more major surgeries of his shoulder and hip resulting in the loss of his job and health benefits. These may not be the last of his surgeries to ensure the sepsis is cleaned out and stays out of his blood and bones. His doctors also believe he won't be able to return to work for over a year. He will need help with upcoming medical, physical therapy and other bills as they attempt to rearrange their lives as his wife Allison is also disabled. This couple would bend over backwards for anyone if they needed help. Please show up as your participation would be greatly appreciated. THANK YOU! 😊
